

Opening Buzz

(1) Jacob Fussell pioneered the mass production of this substance. An inventory of Mount Vernon conducted after George Washington's death found two pewter pots used for consuming this substance. Dolley Madison preferred the oyster flavored variety of this food. Thomas Jefferson included a recipe for Savoy cookies on the back of the first American recipe of this food. A desire to disassociate one type of this substance with the Sabbath led to an "e" replacing the letter "y" in Sunday. For ten points, name this dessert that some Founding Fathers enjoyed in strawberry and vanilla flavors.

ANSWER: ice cream (accept types of ice cream; accept cream ice; accept ice cream sundae after that clue)